A Solemn Feast and Fast When All Differ

The inauguration of the Hebrew New sion for general good cheer and an abundance of hand-shaking.

Those of the church-going fraternity that have had differences during the previous 12 months make up good naturedly and again assume the bonds of friendship with each other. All enmity is at once forgotten and the man who owes his neighbor is required to pay or be cast out. It is also a day of much rejoicing and feasting, when lamb and beef is consumed in plenty and the flowing bowl is drained in quantity. Following this feast comes that of Yom

Kippor, the great day of atonement among Hebrews. Every member of the orthodox faith must fast from Friday night until Sunday morning. Those of the Reform Church, which is more liberal in its principles, have only one day's fast. All the stores of the leading Hebrew business men

GRAVESEND RACE TRACK, Sept. 22 -The racing this afternoon was sensational in the extreme. M. F. Dwyer's 2-year-old Lovelace was made an even money favorite in a field of 11 starters in the first race. Seabright acted as pace maker for five furlongs and then collapsed. Lovelace finally landed first place by a head from Sport, 10 to 1, who came from the rear with a winning rush that would have altered the result in another stride. Foxhall Keene's Candelabra was also made the medium of a plunge, going to the post at 7 to 5. He also succeeded in winning, but Stonenell, who finished second, was disqualified for bearing in on Fagot in the last sixteenth. Fagot was placed third and Charade fourth. While this race was on Ha'penny stumbled at the end of the back stretch, turned a couple of somersaults, striking Midgley, Wah Jim's rider, and cutting his head open. Ha'penny then fell to the track and fell on top of his rider, Penn, who is a colored boy, and the same lad that rode Julio when the latter was killed at Monmouth Park. He was thought to be dead. Ended His Racing Career. He recovered consciousness in about ten minutes. One of Ha'penny's legs was broken, and a pistol shot ended his racing career, which has been somewhat of a disappointment. In the next race, about a sixteenth of a mile beyond where Ha'penny fell, War-path toppled over, threw Jockey Sloan, breaking the latter's collar bone. At the same instant John Cavanagh was coming up fast and he, too, went down. Hamilton, the latter's rider, was somewhat bruised
